NOANK
Socialist Doctrines Explained at Ship Yard by Mrs. Bloor—Oiled Streets Promised—Melville Daboll Leaves the Hospital.

The socialist party started the political pot boiling Thursday by a special noon meeting at the shipyard. Mrs. Ella Reeve Bloor of Waterbury, candidate for secretary of state on the socialist ticket, was the lecturer. The men were pleased by the address and loudly applauded Mrs. Bloor.

At 7.30 o'clock Mrs. Bloor addressed a large gathering at the corner of Main and Pearl streets. Her subject was "What the Socialists Want and How They Propose to Get It." Mrs. Bloor spoke at length on the coal fields and child labor and gave a brief idea as to what the socialists are doing in Milwaukee, which has a socialist government. Mrs. Bloor took a prominent part in the anti-trust investigation and was one of the recent national socialist congress at Chicago.

Witnessed the Races.
The village streets and the shipyard were deserted Thursday. Everyone who was able was attending the races. Hart race. Schooners Earle and Nettie and Aunt Edna were chartered for Boston and New York parties. Every motor boat in the village took a load of sightseers.

Streets to Be Oiled.
The village streets are to receive a coating of oil at the expense of the state. The streets have never been oiled or sprinkled and the dust causes great inconvenience.

Silver in His Jawbone.
Melville Daboll, who has been at the hospital, returned to his home in the village Thursday. While at the hospital he suffered a severe case of his jawbone removed and the cavity filled with silver.

Local Settings.
Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Terry of Providence are guests of Mrs. M. T. Vallet.

The store recently purchased by H. D. Barrows from the Noank Benefit company was closed Thursday. The goods were shipped to New London.

Tug T. A. Scott came in Thursday and towed to New London the lighter tender which has been loading machinery at the shipyard New England Marine Engine company.

The new fence is being erected at the cemetery by Contractor C. A. Shirley and a force of laborers are working on it.

Rodney Singer is quartermaster on the steam yacht Virginia.

Clarence Bradley of Long Island City was in the village Thursday.

Ed Nelson Banning has returned after a brief trip to Windsor Locks.

Miss Annie Goddard of Greenport is visiting relatives in the village.

Charles Ward of the yacht Virginia was calling on friends in the village Thursday.

Fishing schooner Conquest has gone to New London to haul out for repairs.

Hot Weather Healthgrams.
A few days ago we were all vigorous, kicking because summer was so un- commonly long. Now we are all kicking on account of the superabundant manner of summer's sudden arrival. But the health guardians in the city departments have no time for futile complaints. They "on the job" every minute and no matter what the erratic weather chaps may do, the timely bulletin, regular or special, is ready for us, with information concerning the seasonable don'ts as well as the seasonable "musts."

Medical sharps tell us that hot weather is a blessing in disguise to many of us. That it may be a less disguised blessing to more of us, let us do as far as possible to arrive at the instructions of the health department. We are admonished to reduce our food allowance, cut out strong drink, let greasy things alone, consume quantities of pure water—externally, not internally—and live largely on vegetables, fruits, cereals, and milk. By these signs we can conquer the weather-man and contemplate the sun and the thermometer without terror.

That Cotton Leak Again.
It is five years since a statistician in the employ of the Department of Agriculture was discovered to be divulging secret information to a group of cotton speculators. Yesterday two of the operators engaged in the traffic paid fines to the total of $11,000. The case is still unpublished and other speculators have been able to fight off trial though under indictment.

By what process these men have been able to dodge prosecution it would take too long to detail. Subterfuges, technicalities, appeals upon points, delays, postponements—a score or more of strategies have let men, who in time were to confess their guilt, remain at liberty under bail.

The reflection is upon the system, not upon the government attorneys. The prosecutors had to bow to the ruling to follow the interminable procedure. What waste of words! What waste of energy! What waste of reasonable justice!

The confession of guilt and the fixing of fines will probably bring the others hurrying for their punishment. But could not all the business have been settled in a few weeks? Not unfortunately—if there are the sinews of defence.—Folies Blade.

The cost of the transatlantic cable averages nearly $1,200 a mile.

JEWETT CITY

Rev. Dr. W. S. Gane Officiates at Marriage of His Youngest Daughter and Shepherd F. Brown—Borough Getting Ready for Tag Day.

Thursday evening at eight o'clock in the Congregational church there was a charming wedding, when Elizabeth Bruce of the Gad Valley, daughter of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Gane, was united in marriage with Shepherd Frederick Brown, the oldest son of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Gane. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. W. S. Gane. The church was elaborately decorated with asparagus and maidenhair ferns, amid which pink and white carnations were displayed. The bride, being adorned with white honeyuckle. Pink gladioli added a finishing touch to the color scheme. The pews which were decorated with flowers, were marked with bouquets of carnations. The decorations were done by Mrs. T. B. Keen, assisted by Misses Jean and Dorothy Burdick. The bridegroom, Mr. Brown, was the son of Daniel and Esther Wheeler Bentley and was graduated from the East Greenwich academy and the Connecticut Literary institute at Suffield. He is survived by four daughters, Miss Mary Bentley of New York city, Miss Elizabeth Bentley of Portchester, N. Y., and Mrs. Merton W. Handy and Miss Florence Bentley of New Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Watrous of Port Washington, L. I., are visiting in town.

Third District School Meeting.
The school meeting of the Third district of the town of Stonington was held in the assembly hall on Wednesday evening. Reports of the chairman of the committee, James Cooper, treasurer, Edward H. Newbury and the collector, Albert Denison were read, accepted and placed on file. The building committee reported all bills paid and a balance of $1,629.90 on hand which has been turned over to the treasurer of the district, Edward H. Newbury. This committee consists of James Cooper, B. F. Williams, Peter Buggeman, Dr. W. H. Gray and Clinton Allen and were given a vote of thanks for their services and discharged. The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $1,900 and according to a statement made by James Cooper, chairman of the district committee had not
